STARVING UNEMPLOYED JUMP HUNTING RESERVE

Cardiff, Wales, Jan. 14.—Five hundred unemployed workmen unable to secure work, their families facing starvation, invaded the great baronial estate of the Marquis of Bute today and began digging the land preparatory to planting crops. The authorities were summoned but were powerless without warrants.

While the workmen continued laying out their fields and little farms on the great hunting preserve of the Butes, the aristocratic marquis departed to seek warrants for their arrest.

The workmen, hearing of the purpose of the marquis' departure, procured weapons. They declared that they would resist forcible ejection, saying that they would rather die quickly at the hands of the police than slowly of starvation.

The Bute hunting preserve is the tenth rural land district of the United Kingdom. It comprises thousands of acres of fertile rolling and partly wooded lands ideal for the location of farms.

Socialists have demanded that the preserve be thrown open to the people for cultivation claiming that it would furnish comfortable support for the families of the unemployed men in the empire. With the increasing suffering from the lack of food, the demands of the agitators have grown louder and more insistent until the workmen resorted to a state of desperation, have committed a technical trespass to secure sustenance for themselves and their little families.

That the action by the law-abiding but desperate men was precipitated by the indiscretion of the nobility is the opinion of the authorities.

Recently a hunting party was organized at the Butes, and the sight of a handful of gaily habited, well-fed men and women, sporting over land that would give them and their starving families sustenance, brought about the invasion that threatens to end in bloodshed.

Feeling that the plunge has been taken, and that a fight in the courts will follow, emissaries have been sent post haste to London to urge upon the house of commons the necessity of supporting a bill to throw open all the hunting preserves in the United Kingdom to the people.

The action has been heretofore discussed in a desultory way, with a view to weakening the power of the house of lords. It is predicted here, however, that today's desperate action will bring the movement to a focus and force the matter to an issue in parliament.

AFTERMATH OF THE TIMMONS CASE

Attorney Keyes for Timmons stated last night that he credited the verdict of murder in the first degree to the fact testimony showed that Timmons, after cutting his wife's throat with a razor, reached out, as demonstrated by himself (Timmons) and grasping the ax produced in court, beat his victim over the head with it. These points, said Mr. Keyes, was ample evidence of premeditation. The ax was the strongest link in the state's chain of evidence. It was produced in court in the same condition as it was found in the bed covered with blood spots, and hairs clinging to it.

Timmons controlled himself admirably in the court room when the verdict was handed in by the jury yesterday afternoon, but he broke down before being returned to his cell and wept bitterly, the weight of the verdict of the jury apparently coming fully to his realization. He will be sentenced Monday.

The most interesting and the best argued points of the law during the entire trial came up as the result of Deputy District Attorney McNary's call to the stand of Walter Keyes, counsel for Timmons. When Keyes took the stand, his associate counsel, Benson, objected on the grounds that "an attorney for a criminal defendant in a case cannot be forced to testify unless given permission by his client." The argument was carried on some length on this point, but it was decided in favor of Keyes on the grounds that had not Timmons been present along with Keyes and Mrs. Timmons at the time the conversation occurred between them in Keyes' office, the attorney could be compelled to testify.

The attorneys for Timmons will take no further action in the case, not having during the trial at any time, taken a court record, nor were there any objections recorded.

POMPADOUR JIM IS STILL TALKING

(United Press Leased Wire.) Chicago, Jan. 14.—Jim Corbett is taking himself seriously in connection with the present situation in the heavyweight division of the fight game. He said today that while in Los Angeles recently he learned that Jeffries considered it almost an impossibility to get into shape again, and that it appeared to him that, with Johnson's present lead, a fight for the title looked away off. Corbett believes, though, that Johnson's reign will be short-lived. Discussing the matter today, he said:

"I look to see two years the limit of Johnson's reign, unless he follows in the footsteps of Jeffries, and retires. He is a possessor of a nature that means a fast life from now until he is separated from the crown he possesses. Johnson would do well to remain some time in Australia. That is the place for him to fight, for in that climate his color counts for less than here in America. Another fight between him and a man of reputation would mean even a greater attendance than the witnessed the battle with Burns."

LEGISLATE AGAINST BUBONIC PLAGUE

(United Press Leased Wire.) Sacramento, Jan. 14.—State legislation against the bubonic plague is proposed in a bill introduced by Senator Benjamin F. Rush, at the instance of Dr. N. K. Foster, secretary of the state board of health. The new bill makes rat-infested places nuisances, and it provides that buildings, ships or docks must be promptly rid of the vermin or else condemned. If the owners fail to eradicate the rodents, the bill provides that the board of health shall do the work and charge the same to the property owners.

WILL THROW OPEN HIS LANDS FOR ITALIANS

(United Press Leased Wire.) Paris, Jan. 14.—The Duke Di Litta, an Italian nobleman, and owner of vast estates along the Miakka river, in Florida, declared today that he would throw open his lands for colonization to five thousand families, made destitute by the earthquake in Southern Italy.

The only condition made by the duke is that each family shall take two farms, cultivating one for themselves and the other for him.

CALHOUN CASE MAY DRAG LIKE RUEF'S

(United Press Leased Wire.) San Francisco, Jan. 14.—Patrick Calhoun, traction magnate, on trial for alleged giving a bribe, revealed his defense today, when Attorney Stanley Moore, by his questioning of August Hansen, attempted to show that the indictment was the result of a plot hatched by Rudolph Spreckles to make out a case against the head of the United Railroads. Other fragmentary evidence of Calhoun's scheme of defense has been brought out in the examination of prospective jurors, touching on the late car strike, the granting of immunity and the jurors' general sentiment in the matter of unionism.

The third day of Calhoun's trial saw the first juror in the case temporarily passed. He is Joseph Dixon, a salesman for Marcus Hart, a haberdasher. He sits subject to peremptory challenge.

Dixon was passed by the defense last night and after a brief examination this morning was accepted by the prosecution.

During the examination the clerk said he could try the case thoroughly and squarely.

The juror said that he knew Abe Ruef, but did not care to comment on his conviction, that he favored Calhoun's standing in the street car strike, and that he was at one time a union man, but withdrew because of the hours he had to work.

Before the prosecution finished the examination of Dixon the juror made complaint to Judge Lawler that an agent had approached his wife yesterday and questioned her in regard to her husband's feeling in the graft cases. Mrs. Dixon said the man claimed to be a real estate agent.

Dixon said that his wife had refused to talk on the subject with the agent, who departed.

August Hansen, the last of the 12 men in the box, was quickly disposed of. He testified that he had stopped a certain paper because he had tired of reading of the graft prosecution. It was at this juncture that Attorney Stanley Moore revealed Calhoun's main defense, when he asked:

"Have you heard that Rudolph Spreckles first offered immunity to Ruef and Schmitz, through Jim Gallagher, so that he could make a case out against Patrick Calhoun?"

Hansen replied that he had read no such story.

(United Press Leased Wire.) New York, Jan. 14.—The Earl of Granard, King Edward's master of horse, today was married to Miss Beatrice Mills, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills, of New York, and granddaughter of D. O. Mills of California.

The wedding took place in the Mills' residence and the ceremony was performed by Monsignor Lavelle of St. Patrick's cathedral. The Earl is a Roman Catholic and his bride a Protestant.

The bride's fortune is estimated at $10,000,000. It is said that the wedding presents reached nearly a half million of dollars in value.

The Pure Food Law.

Secretary Wilson says: "One of the objects of the law is to inform the consumer of the presence of certain harmful drugs in medicines." The law requires that the amount of chloroform, opium, morphine, and other habit forming drugs be stated on the label of each bottle. The manufacturers of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy have always claimed that their remedy did not contain any of these drugs, and the truth of this claim is now fully proven, as not mention of them is made on the label. This remedy is not only one of the safest, but one of the best in use for coughs and colds. Its value has been proven beyond question during the many years it has been in general use. For sale by Dr. Stone's drug store.

ROADS CUT RATES FOR YUKON-ALASKA FAIR

Portland, Or., Jan. 14.—Word has reached here from the East that the transcontinental railroads have entered into an agreement whereby colonist rates from the East to the Pacific Northwest have been cut so as to insure a great influx of people when the Seattle exposition opens next June.

The parties to the agreement are the Northwestern, St. Paul, Rock Island, Santa Fe and all the Harriman lines. It is thought the Hill roads will also cut the rate. William McMurray, of the Harriman lines, declared today that the new rate means the biggest year's travel that this territory has even seen.

Spasms St. Vitus' Dance

Many persons who suffered untold agonies from epilepsy, fits, spasms, and St. Vitus' Dance are today well. The strengthening influence of Dr. Miles' Nervine upon the shattered nerves having restored them to perfect health.

"I endured agony that words cannot express from St. Vitus' dance, which followed a very severe spell of rheumatism. I doctored with a physician, but the more I took of his medicine the worse I got. My mother's devotion saved me. After she had become almost heart-broken, as well as physically exhausted from constant care, by the advice of a neighbor she procured a bottle of Dr. Miles' Nervine. From the first dose to the last a continual change for the better was noticeable, and when I had taken eleven bottles I was well and in robust health."

ELWAID D. KEAM, North Manchester, Indiana.
"Our little boy Harry had spasms for three years, and although we doctored with many physicians, he continued to grow worse until he had ten spasms in one week. About that time our attention was called to Dr. Miles' Nervine. We began giving it to him. His improvement seemed slow, but when he had finished the fourth bottle the spasms had disappeared, and have not been seen now for years. We shall always recommend Dr. Miles' Nervine."
